Roofwright Silver

Instant Prices Without Omissions

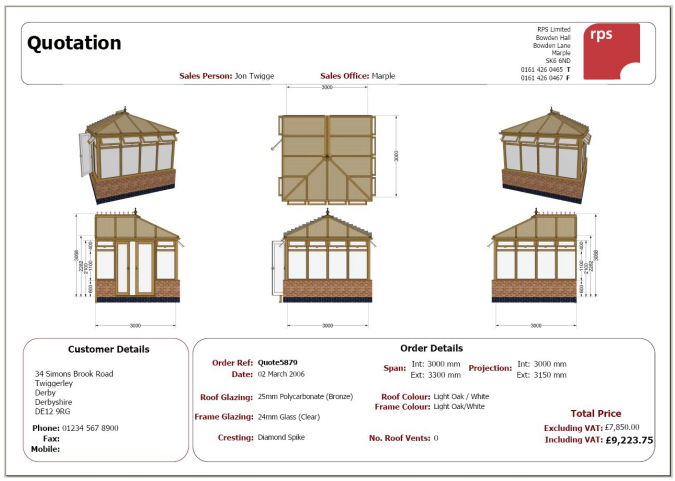
RoofWright
The software for conservatories

With RoofWright Silver, you no longer have to manually price a conservatory in a customers house – or anywhere else. It will also help you to avoid costly omissions when you are put on the spot or are up against a competitive quote.

The right price, quickly

As the conservatory market gets more competitive it is essential to get your prices spot on. When quoting, mistakes can be very costly. A little too high can mean a lost job and a little too low can mean no profit or, even worse, a loss.

With RoofWright Silver the comprehensive pricing facilities mean that you will be able to price accurately for even the most complex jobs. The system can be set up to price for the roof, frames, base and any extras that you sell as well.



Price Extras

Whatever you sell, RoofWright Silver can be set up to price it as part of the job. Ancillary prices can be set up to match the way that you work: in groups, as many as you like, named by you. Typical groups might be "Electrics" or "Ground Works". Then within each group add as many questions as you like.

Individual questions are extremely powerful with options for fixed costs, minimum costs, variable costs and counts, e.g two socket at £60 each. You also have access to an enormous amount of technical information about the conservatory – for example, costing for under floor.

Heating is a breeze – simply link to the internal floor area of the conservatory.

Don't get animated

RoofWright Silver does the animation for you. An assembly sequence shows how a conservatory is built - from the base up to the roof.

One of the many comments that RoofWright users make is how important it is to let their customers see the finished conservatory. The assembly sequence takes that one step further and invariably helps to give your customer confidence in your professionalism.

A further feature is scaled drawings— invaluable when applying for planning. Simply choose the scale that you want to see the drawings at when you print and the results are available in an instant.
