

Windowmaker Option Commercial Contracts

Overview

The Commercial Contracts Option allows the simple management of complex projects or contracts within Windowmaker, by allowing the contract to be split and then each element handled individually.

How it works

Each large contract may be made up of many sales lines, with varying product information, delivery locations, scheduled delivery dates and invoices spread across the sales lines. Commercial Contracts allows the contract to be split into separate phases, and handled one by one, but keeping those sales lines linked together under a Master Sales Order.

Key Features

- ▲ Schedule, manufacture and deliver all sales lines individually as required, yet still connect them as a single identifiable order
- ▲ Allocate time and resource to the priority of each phase
- ▲ Reduce over-stocking, and large amounts of Work in Progress, by finding the sales lines into the purchase ordering and production schedule to maximise production efficiency
- ▲ Using the Phases dialogue box (right), simply create the Master Sales Order, and then split the sales lines into separate Phases
- ▲ Windowmaker will automatically create Sales Orders for each Phase, and if required sales lines can then be updated manually - including adding, removing, editing sales lines or swapping sales lines between Phases as required
